September 2011 Update

Hello everybody!

I hope you have all had a great holiday! The construction of our new school is complete, and I am very proud to show you pictures of it! The school opens on October 3rd and I'm looking forward to seeing my friends again and beginning classes...

I hope my teacher is nice! This year I will learn lots of new subjects and thanks to the education project in my village, I will go to school every day. See you soon!

NOTE: Since the end of 2010, a great number of actions in the 165 villages has resulted in the children going back to school in October:

- Writing a methodology to elaborate the projects
- Training School Directors, Educational Advisors, and educating local authorities of the region "Les Savanes"
- Drawing up the education projects: analysis of the problems of the village, searching for solutions and identification of the actions that need to be led when the school recommences
- Support of the project by all the villagers

From now on, every village is going to implement its own education project including the creation of a school library, extra help for children who need it, organising sporting events, purchase of books etc...
